FOREWORD

The year under review commemorates twenty-five (25) years of impacting on national development through practical quality higher education.

This report represents a synopsis of key milestones chalked and events and activities undertaken during the 2016/2017 Academic year.

University Management is resolute in its drive to enhance the quality of teaching, learning and research through the implementation of innovative programmes and strategic partnerships.

The University held a Matriculation in October 2016 and a Congregation in November 2016 to admit and graduate deserving students respectively.

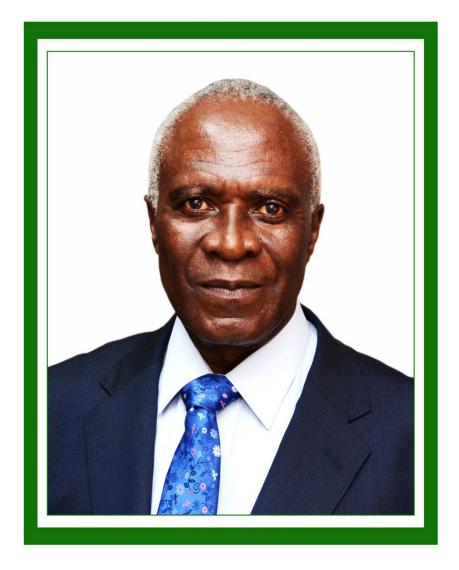

Our flagship international programme on continental governance-Africa Leadership Lectures (ALL) was held in April 2017. The main speaker was H. E. Benjamin William Mkapa, former President of the Republic of Tanzania. This spectacular event was climaxed with a Special Congregation, during which an honorary doctorate degree was conferred on H. E. Mkapa.

Prof. David Millar, former Pro-Vice-Chancellor, delivered an Inaugural Lecture in July 2017. It is worth noting that teaching, research and staff development received a further boost through collaborations with world class research institutions such as the Florida Agriculture and Mechanical University (FAMU), USA, Friedrich Alexander University, Germany and the International Child Resource Institute (ICRI), USA.

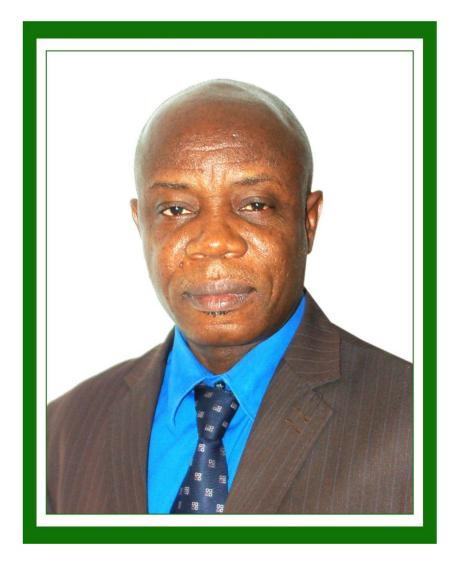

The University for Development Studies owes our numerous partners and stakeholders a great debt of gratitude for their invaluable contributions towards our forward match in delivering quality practical higher education.

Introduction

The Directorate of Academic Planning and Quality Assurance (DAPQA) functions as the VC's secretariat on quality assurance issues. The goal of the Directorate is to ensure that relevant and appropriate academic standards are achieved and good quality education is provided to students by encouraging and supporting continuous quality improvement in institutional as well as in programmes and research management. DAPQA strives forcontinuous academic excellence which is reflected in the core mandate of the University and geared towards achieving the overall vision of the University of becoming "a home of world class pro-poor scholarship".

DAPQA is also responsible for coordinating and managing affiliation matters. The Directorate in consultation with Deans of Faculties/Schools and Heads of Department facilitates the affiliation process and ensures that prospective affiliates meet a set standard to qualify for consideration.

Activities

- i) Vetting of Curricula for Approval by NCTE and Accreditation by NAB: DAPQA took delivery of a number of documents from various departments on proposed undergraduate and postgraduate programmes that required approval and accreditation by the National Council for Tertiary Education (NCTE) and National Accreditation Board (NAB) respectively. The proposals were carefully studied and scrutinised by DAPQA in the light of NCTE and NAB's requirements. This was aimed at ensuring that the criteria set by these regulating bodies were met for speedy approval and accreditation.
- ii) Monitoring of Beginning of Lectures: As part of efforts to ensure quality education delivery in the University, DAPQA monitored the beginning of lectures for First and Second Trimesters of the 2016/2017 Academic Year. This was to find out whether lectures began according to the time table set for the Trimesters. The exercise was conducted simultaneously within the first three weeks in all the four Campuses of the University (Tamale, Nyankpala, Navrongo and Wa). The monitoring in the First Trimester took place from 12th to30thSeptember, 2016 whilstthat of the Second Trimester lasted between 10th and 27th January, 2017.
- Monitoring of Examinations: During the period under review, the Directorate visited the examination centers of the various Campuses of the University to monitor the First and Second Trimesters' Examinations of the 2016/2017 Academic year. The monitoring of First Trimester Examinationstook place between10th and 18th December, 2016 whilst that of the Second Trimester began on 11th April, 2017 and ended on 20th April, 2017.
- iv) Vetting of Academic Results: DAPQA facilitated the vetting of First and Second Trimesters' examination results of 2016/2017 Academicyear. The vetting of First Trimester results took place on 23rd and24thFebruary, 2017 whilst that of Second Trimester took place on 24th and 25thAugust, 2017.
- v) Publication of Quality Assurance (QA) Policy Document: The Quality Assurance Policy document of the Directorate was published on 15thMarch, 2017 and subsequently distributed to various Departments of the University. It is also available on the University website. The policy document was reviewed and finalized by an Adhoc Committee and ratified by the University Council at its 79th regular meeting held on 26thNovember, 2015. This was after a thorough study and approval by the Executive Committee of Academic Board at its 17th regular meeting on October 20, 2015.

- vi) Assessment of Courses and Lecturers for 1st and 2nd Trimesters of 2016/2017 Academic Year: The reports on Assessment of Courses and Lecturers for First and Second Trimesters of 2016/2017 Academic Year weregenerated and submitted to the Deans of the various Faculties and Schools for their action. The reports highlighted the strengths and weaknesses of the lecturers with the aim of helping them to improve upon their teaching.
- vii) Orientation Workshop for newly appointed Academic Staff; The Directorate organizedan orientation workshop for all newly appointed academic staff of the University, to equip them with the knowledge and skills necessary for effective teaching at the University level. The workshops took place at the Dr. Andani Academic Board Room of the Central Administration on the 5th and 6th of July, 2017.
- viii) University Wide Evaluation of Staff: The Directorateconducted a University-wide evaluation of all categories of staff in the University. This formed the basis for awards to the best staff in each category, during the 2016 Congregation ceremonies held at the Wa and Tamale Campuses.
- Workshop on Uploading of Results: On11th January, 2017 the Directorate organized a workshop on the UDS Online Results System for academic staff of the School of Medicine and Health Sciences (SMHS). This was based on a request by the Dean to conduct a separate workshop for his staff because they missed a general one that was organized for the entire academic staff of the University last year.

Affiliation Issues

- i) New Applications for Affiliation: During the period under review, DAPQA received requests for affiliation from the underlisted private institutions to be mentored on various programmes of the University:
 - a) Fountainhead Christian College, Tema

- b) Ivory Vision College, Accra
- c) St. Williams Nursing and Allied Health Sciences College, Asuotiano BA/R
- d) Holy Eucharist School of Health
- e) Garden City University College, Kumasi
- Grant of affiliation: The underlisted institutions fulfilled the ii) requirements for affiliation and based on satisfactory reports of the Administrative and Technical Committees of DAPQA, they were granted approval to run various programmes under UDS mentorship:
 - a) DHI College of Health and Education, Kumasi
 - b) Madina Institute of Science and Technology, Accra
 - c) Midland College, Kumasi
- iii) Matriculation and Graduation Ceremonies by Affiliate Institutions: The underlisted affiliate institutions held matriculation and graduation ceremonies during the period under review. The Pro-Vice Chancellor led UDS delegations to some of the institutions. However on some occasions, the Director of DAPQA represented the University.

THE GRANT ADVANCEMENT OFFICE

The Grant Advancement Office explores grants and scholarship opportunities for activities in various areas for staff as well as students. During the period under review, over sixty (60) notifications on grants and scholarships were sent to staff, students and national service persons.

KAZUHIKO TAKEUCHI CENTRE FOR SUSTAINABILITY AND RESILIENCE

As an exit strategy to the Climate and Ecosystems Changes Adaptation Research in semi-arid Africa (CECAR-Africa) project funded by Japan Science and Technology Agency (JST) and Japan International Cooperation Agency (JICA) and implemented by many collaborating institutions, the Kazuhiko Takeuchi Centre for Sustainability and Resilience (KTCSR) was established in 2017 to continue research and community capacity building in Sustainability and Resilience in areas of Climate and ecosystem changes. The Centre is named after Prof. Kazuhiko Takeuchi, whose pioneering and leadership role led to the initiation and effective implementation of the CECAR-Africa project.

The mandate of the centre is to promote sustainability science, resilience and ecosystem research and education through trans-disciplinary approaches and capacity building against climate and ecosystem deterioration, locally and internationally, within the African region

OFFICE OF THE DEAN OF STUDENTS

Introduction

The Office of the Dean of Students' Affairs is one of the key organs of the university management and the main office is situated in the Central Administration building, Tamale Campus, with supporting offices at all the four campuses of UDS. The office works with the support of the entire management and more especially with the offices of the Vice-Deans of Students, Counseling Units and Senior Hall Tutors to provide general welfare services for students. The office also co-ordinates the activities of the Student Representative Council (SRC) and the various students' groups on the Campuses. It further serves as the link between the University management and the various students' bodies.

THIRD TRIMESTER FIELD PRACTICAL PROGRAMMES

Introduction

The Third Trimester Field Practical Programme (TTFPP) is an integrated flagship programme that seeks to link with the communities in the catchment area and beyond. It is an indispensable part of the academic training curriculum of the University for Development Studies (UDS) and students must, by necessity fulfil its requirements before graduation. It draws its justification from PNDC Law 279 (1992) based on which the university was established. The goal of the programme is to blend the academic work of the UDS with that of the community in order to provide constructive interaction between the two for the total development of Northern Ghana in particular and the country as a whole. In pursuance of this mandate, the Third Trimester of the academic year is devoted solely to field work in the rural communities, where students live and carry out studies on developmental issues with the active participation of the members of the communities.

Prior to their departure to the rural communities in the first year, students taken through orientation lectures during the second trimester to introduced to aspects of community studies and prepare them for the work in the field. Students practice community entry and aspects of community diagnosis using participatory approaches. Emphasis is placed on techniques of needs assessment, culminating in the identification and analysis of the problems and potentials of the community using a combination of Participatory Rural Appraisal (PRA) tools and techniques.

The problems and potentials analysed during the first year serve as the starting point of the activities for the second year whereby students are tasked to propose and develop pragmatic interventions for the resolutions of the problems identified in the first year. Students are expected to demonstrate the feasibility, possible implementation and usefulness of the identified potentials to the communities in their development proposals or plans.

Programme Objectives

The general objectives of the integrated TTFPP are to:

- Help students to develop favourable attitudes towards working in rural and deprived communities.
- ii. Expose students, practically, to the nature of the development problems and potentials of Northern Ghana in particular and the country as a whole.
- iii. Provide useful services to Ghanaian rural communities through the exchange of knowledge and its application to address the felt needs and aspirations of these communities
- iv. Generate data for further research into problem-solving development issues, and other purposes.

Third Trimester Field Practical Programme Committee

The Committee is chaired by the Pro-Vice Chancellor and is responsible for planning the annual activities of TTFPP. The committee is composed of the Director of the Programme, a representative each from the Finance, Budget, Internal Audit and Transport Units of the University, TTFPP Faculty Coordinators, and three studentrepresentatives (at least one female) from each of the four campuses (Tamale, Nyankpala, Navrongo and Wa).

Activities

Some activities carried out by the Programme include:

- TTFPP committee meeting on February 14, 2017 to review the 2015/2016 TTFPP activities, and plan for 2016/17 academic year activities.
- ii) Joint meeting between UDS Management and Regional Coordinating Council and District Assemblies of the Upper West Region in Wa on 29th March, 2017
- iii) Orientation Workshops for Level 100 TTFPP District Coordinators
- iv) Selection of new districts and the conduct of community mapping
- v) Despatch of students to the communities in the selected districts
- vi) Monitoring of students in the communities
- vii) Orientation Workshops for Assessors
- viii) Assessment of students in the communities
- ix) TTFPP committee meeting held at Damongo from August 13 15, 2017to discuss and approveTTFPP Results for 2016/17 academic year
- x) All the Municipal and District Assemblies in the Upper West Region were selected for the 2016/2017 Academic Year for Level 100 students.

Extent of Coverage

In the 2016/2017 Academic Year, a total of 6,710 students were deployed in 610 rural communities spread across Northern and Upper West Regionswith the breakdown as indicated Table 1.

Table 1: Student Distribution in 2016/2017

Level	No. of Districts	No. of Communities	No. of Students
200	15	361	3,971
100	11	249	2,739
Total	32	610	6,710

TTFPP Achievements for the year

This year's programme was organised successfully with very minimal infractions. The cooperation and participation of students and staff were excellent. Relationships between staff and students and members of the host communities were very cordial and the participation of community members was very active. In one instance students, through their own initiative, worked with the DCE, health authorities and the leadership of the community in the Upper West Region to carry out circumcision among the males in the community. This has helped in breaking the myth surrounding circumcision because of cultural beliefs.

The volumes of data and reports generated through the programme can be of enormous assistance to the communities, Metropolitan, Municipal and District Assemblies in their pursuit for development interventions. The University can partner the current government in the implementation of some policies, one village-one dam and one district-one factory, especially in the north because of the wealth of knowledge, information and experience the university has in the region.

Challenges

Financing the programme and the mobilisation of transport for carrying out such an important but complex remains a challenge that must be looked at to ensure sustainability. Much as the University has and continues to play the key role in financing it is becoming increasingly obvious that there is the need to explore other sources of funding for the programme.

Conclusion

UDS clearly stands out of other university in Ghana because of the Third Trimester Field Practical Programme. The products and well suited for work in every part of the country because of the training they receive. The university will continue to innovate and improve upon the current structure of the TTFPP to make it more relevant to current demands of society.

The ICT Directorate was established by the University in order to keep up with global trends of integrating the power of information technology to better deliver effective teaching and learning services, and aims to become a Centre of Excellence where the potential of ICT is harnessed to serve as a catalyst for effective teaching, research and learning which is aimed at the promotion of innovation in education technology and transformation of academic excellence.

Objectives

The main objectives set to achieve this mission are:

- 1. Providing leadership in the execution of ICT services, documentation management, development and implementation of ICT management systems and strategies and technology infrastructure.
- 2. To provide excellent Student/Staff centred services that are responsive to the changing needs of teaching and learning in higher education.
- 3. To maintain an effective staff development programme to ensure that ICT staff continue to develop the necessary skills to provide high-quality services and support to Students and Staff

The ICT Directorate is responsible for facilitating the Development of ICT Systems and infrastructure within all the campuses of the University. The Directorate undertakes a number of software developments and maintenance of various ICT products.

Additionally, the Directorate team handles the following functions:

- i) Network design, planning, installation and maintenance.
- ii) Software and Operating System configuration, testing, installation and support.
- iii) Change planning, recording and management for any change to the ICT Infrastructure or Development environment.
- iv) Software and License Control for all software purchased for use within the University
- v) Central logging and first line support for enquiries, hardware, Software and application problems.
- vi) Database/Environment creation, maintenance and administration.
- vii) Implementation and monitoring of best practice information related security processes.
- viii)Project co-ordination for both internal infrastructure-based and the Universitywide projects.
- ix) ICT Policy & Strategy development and implementation
- x) Maintain server functions for email, internet, databases, file storage and administration
- xi) End user ICT training, Data management services and Technical Support Services
- xii) Website design and development

SCHOOL OF MEDICINE AND HEALTH SCIENCES

Introduction/Background:

The School of Medicine and Health Sciences trains medical doctors and nurse anaesthetists. It is the only medical school in the northern part of Ghana, one of the five (5) public medical schools in Ghana.

The School, established in 1996, started in Nyankpala and eventually moved to its present location on the Dungu Campus, Tamale. It now has 15 departments. Learning and teaching in the School is grounded on the problem-based learning (PBL) methodology; our flagship programme is the community-based education and service (COBES), which allows our students to be attached to rural communities with health facilities for a period of four (4)weeks every year (from level 100 to level 300 i.e. PBL 1 to PBL3) to offer health advice and serve in such communities. The vision of the school is to be an outstanding health professions training institution manifesting excellence in performance and innovation in rural health, research, health professions training, health care delivery, and community service.

SCHOOL OF ALLIED HEALTH SCIENCES

Introduction

Collaborations

SAHS-UDS collaborates with

- a) PXL University in Belgium in a broad spectrum of programmes focused on promoting expansion of access to health care education and exchange of knowledge. The key areas of collaboration include, but not limited to:
 - i) Exchange of Faculty members and Students on reciprocal basis;

- ii) Collaboration in teaching and learning, curriculum development, community service, and research;
- iii) Exchange of academic materials, publications and other relevant information.

As a result of the collaboration, seven nursing students of PXL University underwent a 7- week clinical experience exchange programme at the Tamale Teaching Hospital.

- b) SAHS also has collaboration with the University of British Columbia (UBC), Okanagan for the past sixteen years. The trust of the collaboration is to enhance nursing education, capacity building and exchange programmes. Over the years, a number of staff have benefitted in capacity building from this collaboration. The current nurse practitioner evolved as a result of this collaboration. A one thousand Canadian dollar (CDN $1000.00) Scholarship per annum has been instituted and awarded to an M.Phil. student of SAHS whose research area is in Maternal and Child Health. As part of the SAHS and UBC collaboration, a number of seminars were facilitated by visiting professors/lecturers from UBC for staff of SAHS during the period under the review. These seminars were on:
 - i) "Connecting Across Difference: Speaking Peace in times of Conflict"
 - ii) "Building Healthy Preceptorship"
 - iii) "Why Design Matters: Making Design and Research Approaches That Support Them"
- c) Le Mete Onlus and University for Development Studies, School of Allied Health Sciences have entered into an agreement for the purpose of sharing information, promoting access to teaching and learning materials, supporting research in health care with particular emphasis on children and other identifiable vulnerable groups. Le Mete Onlus Italia (Le Mete) and its Ghanaian wing, Le Mete Ghana (LMG) are non-profit, non-governmental organizations (NPO, NGO) which seek to promote the delivery of health care to children especially, and other vulnerable and underserved groups such as women and fistula patients, by harnessing resources from voluntary donors.

SCHOOL OF BUSINESS AND LAW

Introduction

Degrees Awarded

The School runs courses that lead to the award of the following degrees:

- i) B.A and Dip.
- ii) M.Com, M.Sc., M.A.

Departments

- i) Department of Administration and Management Studies
- ii) Department of Accountancy and Commerce
- iii) Department of Banking and Finance
- iv) Department of Law and Legal Studies
- v) Department of Procurement and Marketing

Programmes of Study

- Master of Arts in Management Studies i)
- Master of Arts in Leadership and Development ii)
- iii) Diploma in Integrated Business Studies
- iv) Bachelor of Arts in Integrated Business Studies with options in Accounting and Management.

SCHOOL OF ENGINEERING

Introduction

The School of Engineering was created in September 2015 with the mandate to train students in various engineering disciplines. Unlike others which metamorphosed from Faculties/Schools, the School of Engineering started just like the University itself without a mentor. The School of Engineering has a vision "to be a center of excellence for the development of independent minded professionals with innovative skills in all disciplines of engineering by advancing knowledge in science, technology and engineering aimed at national development".

- ii) Department of Mechanical and Industrial Engineering
- iii) Energy Technology Center

Programmes

- 1. B.Sc. Agricultural Engineering with specializations in
 - i) Irrigation and Drainage Engineering,
 - ii) Farm Power and Machinery Engineering,
 - iii) Soil and Water Conservation Engineering,
 - iv) Food and Post-Harvest Engineering.
- 2. BSc. Mechanical Engineering with specializations in
 - i) Automobile Engineering,
 - ii) Thermo-Fluids Engineering,
 - iii) Applied Mechanics Engineering
 - Design and Manufacturing Engineering. iv)

Collaboration

Under the period of review, the School of Engineering (SoE) has established relations/linkages with some local and international institutions to enhance research, teaching and learning. These include:

- i) Tamale Polytechnic, Tamale
- ii) Ghana Institution of Engineers
- iii) Japan Motors, Tamale
- iv) Gratis Foundation, Tamale
- v) Tamale Implement Factory, Tamale
- vi) International Institute For Water And Environmental Engineering (2iE), Burkina Faso

FACULTY OF EDUCATION

Introduction

The Faculty of Education (FoE) was established as a full-fledged faculty in February 2013 to lead in the University's efforts to use education for the socio-economic transformation of the country. It was established in the spirit of UDS as a multi-campus faculty with departments in all four UDS campuses that offer collaborative programmes with relevant departments and faculties. Such collaborations have enabled the Faculty to draw from existing human and material resources to provide leadership, research and training for the re-thinking and re-modelling of education as a tool for social progress and human development. Its programmes have targeted the formal (Teacher Education Studies) and non-formal (Development Education Studies) systems of education at the Diploma, Undergraduate and Postgraduate levels.

These programmes are strategically tailored to respond to ongoing teaching and learning, research and dissemination, administration and management challenges in education as well as the educational quality and national development needs. The FoE'sprogrammes are in the areas of Teacher Education (i.e. Early Childhood, Basic and Secondary), Development Education and Foundations Education.

INSTITUTE FOR DISTANCE AND CONTINUING EDUCATION

Introduction

The Institute for Distance and Continuing Education (IDCE) is located in the Tamale 'B' Campus at Choggu near the Tamale Technical University. The Distance Learning (DL) programme is the brain child of the current Vice Chancellor Prof. Gabriel A. Teye of the University for Development Studies (UDS) and was established to provide quality tertiary educationto Ghanaians who for many reasons cannot directly access the traditional campus based (face-to-face) learning.

INSTITUTE FOR INTERDISCIPLINARY RESEARCH AND CONSULTANCY SERVICES (IRACS)

Introduction

The Institute for Interdisciplinary Research and Consultancy Services (IIRaCS) is a unit of UDS established in 1992. As one of the first units of UDS, it is responsible for undertaking basic, applied and action oriented research that is directly related to the development and environmental needs of Northern Ghana. To achieve its mandate, IIRaCS adopts the interdisciplinary and problem solving approach to research and capacity building in an effort to improve the quality of lives of deprived rural communities. IIRaCS therefore exists to promote research and collaboration for socio-economic advancement in Northern Ghana in particular and Ghana as a whole.It organizes professional and capacity building support for grass-root development. Apart from its quarterly seminars, IIRaCS also organizes two annual scholarly platforms, namely, the Harmattan School and Interdisciplinary Conference in February and September respectively.

As an academic unit, part of IIRaCS mandate also includes teaching at the graduate and undergraduate levels. It runs Human Development Courses in existing taught programmes and has the approval to mount a short course in Development Action through Expressive Media, which has academic and practical component and also includes a study tour programme.

Graduate Programmes

IIRaCS runs two Sandwich post-graduate degree programmes leading to the award of MA in Environmental Security and Livelihood Change, and MA in NGO Management and Rural Development.

Student Population

The Institute has a total number of twenty-two (22) students in both year one and two.

FACULTY OF AGRICULTURE

Introduction

The Faculty of Agriculture is located at Nyankpala Campus. The Faculty currently runs Diploma, B.Sc., degree and postgraduate programmes. The B.Sc. degree programmes are in Agricultural Technology, Agricultural Science Education, Veterinary Nursing, Family and Consumer Science and Food Processing Technology disciplines. Additionally, final year students of B.Sc. Agricultural Technology have the option of specializing in any one of Animal Science, Agric Mechanization and Irrigation Technology, Agricultural Economics and Extension, Horticulture, Agronomy, and Biotechnology.

The Diploma programmes are for prospective students who want to upgrade themselves in Agricultural Education, General Agriculture, Family and Consumer Science and Biotechnology. Students who graduate with good grades from the diploma programme are enrolled onto various levels of the B.Sc. programme depending on their final grade.

DEPARTMENTS

The Faculty has nine (9) academic departments namely,

- Department of Agriculture and Consumer Science Education
- b. Department of Agricultural Economics and Extension
- c. Department of Agricultural Mechanization and Irrigation Technology
- d. Department of Agronomy
- e. Department of Animal Science
- f. Department of Family and Consumer Science
- g. Department of Biotechnology
- h. Department of Food Science and Technology
- i. Department of Horticulture

The core business engaged by Staff of the Faculty were in teaching, research and extension activities and these activities emphasized problem-solving and participatory learning approaches, geared towards integrated rural development and poverty alleviation.

Research Interests

Badii, K. B.

- i) Development of integrated management strategies for the invasive fall armyworm, Spodoptera furgiperda, in northern Ghana
- ii) Development of improved postharvest grain preservation and strengthened value chain to improve Prof.itability from cowpea production by small farmers in northern Ghana

Addai, I. K.

- i) Evaluation of mutant lines of pearl millet (Pennisetum glaucum), ground nut (Arachis hypogeae) soybean (Glycine max) for improved grain quality and total grain yield in three agroecological zones of Ghana.
- ii) Regulation of carbohydrates partitioning and metabolism of the onion and shallot
- iii) Response of onion (Allium cepa L.) cultivars to spacing and storability in the sudan savannah agroecology of Ghana.

Adu-Gyamfi, R.

- i) Multiplication of planting material using Plant Tissue culture
- ii) Yam production through Yam Minisett Technique
- iii) Promoting use of NPK briquette in maize and vegetables production system.
- iv) Youth in Agriculture project

Mahama, A. R.

- i) Use of leguminous plants for soil fertility enhancement.
- ii) Enhancing nitrogen fixation and soil nitrogen through rhizobia inoculation and the use of phosphorus fertilizers.
- iii) Organic matter accumulation and soil fertility maintenance through the use of organic materials.

Kubge J. X.

i) Soil Science, food production and food security, climate change and greenhouse gas emission Kankam, F. K.

i) Isolation and identification of toxins produced by potato Rhizoctonia solani AG-3 and the pathogenic mechanisms for stem canker.

Shirley, L.

i) Maize yield and quality responses to soil amendment and tillage practices and the underlying mechanisms.

Sowley, E. N. K.

- i) Field and Postharvest pathology of root and tuber crops.
- ii) Evaluation of plant extracts for the control of pathogenic fungi. .
- iii) Epidemiology and control of Cercospora leaf spot disease of groundnut.

Dzomeku I. K.

- Prospects of tillage practices, soil fertility management and weed control methods for sustainable rice production in the Guinea savannah zone of Ghana. Status
- ii) Evaluation Of Effectiveness Of Maize-Soybean Integration In Managing The Devastating Effects Of Strigahermonthica (Del.) Benth In The Guinea Savannah Zone Of Ghana.

iii) Impact of Agronomic practices in management of Aflatoxin in groundnuts (Arachishypogaea L.)

FACULTY OF NATURAL RESOURCES AND ENVIRONMENT

Introduction

The Faculty of Renewable Natural Resources became a full-fledged Faculty in the 2009/2010 academic year. The core mandate of the Faculty is teaching, research, and extension services. In June 2016 it was successful rebranded, from Faculty of Renewable Natural Resources (FRNR) to Faculty of Natural Resources and Environment (FNRE) being the pioneer in sucharea of academic excellence in the University. This was announced during the 2016/2017 matriculation in the Vice Chancellor's address.

As part of its mandate, we train the needed manpower for sustainable management and utilization of the country's savanna ecosystems and the natural resources in general for national development. The Faculty runs a 4-year Bachelor of Science degree in Renewable Natural Resources programme.

Presently, suggestions and comments on the Bachelor of Science degree in Fisheries and Aquaculture Technology and Master of Philosophy in Fisheries programmes have been addressed and submitted to the National Council for Tertiary Education (NCTE) for approval to mount them. The Faculty has also developed other postgraduate and undergraduate programmes in the areas listed below:

- i. Master of Philosophy in Environmental Management and Sustainability
- ii. Bachelor of Science in Environmental Management and Sustainability
- iii. Bachelor of Science in Forest Resources Conservation and Management
- iv. Bachelor of Science in Biodiversity Conservation with Entrepreneurship
- v. Bachelor of Science in Ecotourism and Resort Management

A Diploma programme in Natural Resources Management (both sandwich and regular) has been developed and will commerce in the 2017/18 academic year.

The Faculty has had a lot of collaborations and continues to seek new ones. We have also carried out a number of research and development activities aimed at conserving and managing renewable natural resources in some local communities within our domain.

Following directives from the University Development Committee, the Faculty has planted over one thousand seedlings around both the Tamale Campus and Gbanyamni Babtin lands in July, 2017.

Departments

Currently, the Faculty has four (4) departments as follows:

- i. Forestry and Forest Resources Management,
- ii. Ecotourism and Environmental Management,
- iii. Fisheries and Aquatic Resources Management, and Biodiversity Conservation and Management. iv.

FACULTY OF AGRIBUSINESS AND COMMUNICATION SCIENCES

Introduction

The Faculty of Agribusiness and Communication Sciences (FACS) is one of the four Faculties/Schools on Nyankpala Campus. FACS is the only Social Science and Humanities focused faculty on the Nyankpala Campus and was created in response to the global and national repositioning of agribusiness and agro-industry, climate change as well as communication as important growth areas in the economy of nations. FACS offers two four-year academic Bachelor's degree programmes:

- 1) B.Sc. Agribusiness, with specializations in the fields of
 - i) Agribusiness Management and Finance
 - ii) Agricultural Extension, Rural Development and Gender Studies
 - iii) Agricultural and Resource Economics
 - iv) Climate Change and Food Security
- 2) B.Sc. Social Change Communication

The Faculty also has five graduate level programmes:

- i) M.Sc. Agricultural Economics
- ii) M.Sc. Innovation Communication
- iii) M.Sc. Integrated Rural Development
- iv) M.Phil./Ph.D. Agricultural Economics
- v) M.Phil./Ph.D. Innovation Communication

FACULTY OF INTEGRATED DEVELOPMENT STUDIES

Introduction

Following its establishment in 1994, the Faculty of Integrated Development Studies (FIDS) has promoted integrated/interdisciplinary approach to teaching, learning and research. All students of the Faculty were awarded Degree in B.A. Integrated Development Studies until, the 2008/09 academic year when optional programmes were introduced to offer a variety of opportunities to students.

In December 2010, the Faculty passed out its first batch of students, majoring in Integrated Development Studies with optional programmes. The optional degree programmes were further reviewed in 2009/10 and the revised programmes approved by the Academic Board and mounted for the 2010/2011 academic year.

Departments

The Faculty of Integrated Development Studies has five Departments:

- i) Department of African and General Studies (DAGS)
- ii) Department of Economics and Entrepreneurial Development (DEED)
- iii) Department of Environment and Resource Studies (DERS)
- iv) Department of Development Studies (DDS)
- v) Department of Social, Political and Historical Studies (DSPHS)

Undergraduate Programmes

The Faculty offers undergraduate programmes in Integrated Development Studies with options in:

- i) B.A. Integrated Development Studies
- ii) B.A. Integrated Development Studies (Development Communication Option)

Vice-Chancellor's Report | 2017

- iii) B.A. Integrated Development Studies (Economics and EntrepreneurshipOption)
- iv) B.A. Integrated Development Studies (Economics Option)
- v) B.A. Integrated Development Studies(Entrepreneurship Option)
- vi) B.A. Integrated Development Studies (Environment and Resource Management Option)
- vii) B.A. Integrated Development Studies (Social and Development Administration Option)
- viii) Diploma in Integrated Community Development
- ix) Ghana Rural Animators Training (Certificate Course)

Graduate Programmes

The Faculty offers PhD., M.Phil and M.A.Programmes on regular and sandwich bases. The programmes are:

- i) PhD. in Social Administration (Regular)
- ii) PhD. in Endogenous Development (Sandwich)
- iii) M.Phil in Development Studies (Regular and Sandwich)
- iv) M.Phil in Environment and Resources Management(Regular)
- v) M.PhilSocial Administration(Regular)

FACULTY OF APPLIED SCIENCES

Introduction

The Faculty of Applied Sciences is one of the two Faculties on the Navrongo Campus with its core mandate being teaching, research and community service. The Faculty's annual report forms part of the Vice-Chancellor's Annual Report to the 18th Congregation. It contains up-to-date information on the state of the Faculty, activities carried out during the reporting period, expectations and future direction towards the growth and development of the Faculty in particular, and the University as a whole.

Departments of the Faculty

The Faculty of Applied Sciences, which was established after the Faculty of Integrated Development Studies, has four major departments. These are:

- The Department of Applied Physics
- ii. The Department of Applied Biology
- iii. The Department of Applied Chemistry and Biochemistry
- iv. The Department of Earth and Environmental Sciences.

The Faculty of Applied Sciences offers the following undergraduate programmes within the various departments:

i. B.Sc. Applied Biology

ii. B.Sc. Applied Chemistry

iii. B.Sc. Applied Physics

B.Sc. Biochemistry iv.

B.Sc. Earth Science

B.Sc. Environmental Science vi.

vii. B.Ed. Science

Programmes

The Department runs two degreeprogrammes leading to the award of B.Sc. Biochemistry and B.Sc. Applied Chemistry. In addition, two postgraduate programmes of the Department (at the Masters' level in Applied Chemistry) have commenced since 2011/2012 academic year.

Students Population

The population of students in the Department by gender and year is summarized in the table below:

B.Sc. Applied Chemistry

Year	Male	Female	Total
First	19	4	21
Second	61	6	67
Third	8	2	10
Fourth	7	3	11
Total	86	12	98

Research Interests

Donkor, A-M.

- i. In Vitro studies of plant extracts and their ointment formulations with drug delivery vehicles (PEG Systems, liposomes, PEG-PLA Systems, PGA Systems) against wound pathogens.
- ii. In vitro investigation of bioactivity of extracts of plant from Ghana as antiplasmodial agents.
- iii. Investigation of extract of plants from Ghana and their ointment formation as repellent against mosquito vector.

Pelig-Ba K. B.

- i. Levels of agricultural pesticides in some selected irrigated dams in the Upper East Region of Ghana.
- ii. Phytic acid levels in local cereals.

iii. Determination of levels of trace elements in fish tissues in irrigation dams in Tono and Vea in the Upper East Region of Ghana.

Apea, O. B.

- i. Modeling the anti-diabetic activity of dry pawpaw leaf aqueous extracts.
- ii. Chemical analysis and comparative study of human milk from selected Districts in Greater Accra, Ghana.
- iii. Modeling the effects of humic substances on trace metal partition in the soil.

Oseni, L. A.

- i. Alpha-glucosidase and alpha- amylase inhibitors of natural origin.
- ii. Design, synthesis and evaluation of novel inhibitors in glycosidase and amylase inhibition assays.
- iii. Docking studies of potential carbohydrate hydrolases inhibitors.

Oyelude, E. O.

- i. Water and waste treatment using locally available low-cost materials.
- ii. Development of affordable and effective adsorbents and activated carbon from locally available materials.
- iii. Characterization of local clay deposits for possible industrial exploitation.

Apaseku, A. J.

- i. Assessing the removal of fluoride ion from borehole water in the Bongo District by using termite clay and soil laterite.
- ii. Assessing a constructed Manson-Jar using jam bottle for the micro-diffusion procedure by direct alkaline treatment to estimate labile N from soil and organic fertilizers.
- iii. Comparison of aerobic, anaerobic incubation versus alkaline micro-diffusion labile as N.

Mbatchou, V. C.

- i. Isolation of compounds by the use of solvents, normal TLC, preparative TLC and column chromatographic methods.
- ii. Essential oils and compounds in plants and their aphrodisiac potentials in some mammals in comparison to standard aphrodisiacs.

iii. Secondary metabolites (natural products) in Agama agama and Chiropteralucifungus animal samples, and their growth inhibitory effects on Streptococcus pneumonia (Pneumonia causative agent).

Abugri, J.

- Role of immune induced gene variation in determining Plasmodium falciparum i. erythrocyte invasion mechanisms in Ghana.
- ii. Whole genome sequence and transcriptions of Plasmodium falciparum.
- iii. Erythrocyte invasion mechanisms by Plasmodium falciparum.

Donkor, M.N.

- Detection of drugs and toxins using biological specimens with emphasis on hair i. and nail samples.
- ii. Profiling of cultivated drugs of abuse using trace metals/impurity analyses.
- iii. Chemical analysis of trace evidence with the aim developing atrace evidence database.

Abagale, S.

- i. Research activities involve the search for integrated pest management of the Banana weevil in Ghana; Pesticidal incidence in foods
- ii. Research interest include areas of Organic chemistry; Biochemistry; Indigenous chemical processes; Medicinal and pharmaceutical chemistry; Chemical ecology.

Pedavoah, M.M.

- Water treatment and purification using agricultural waste materials. i.
- Studies on Biofuels (biodiesel and ethanol) for underutilized plant resources.
- iii. Studies on unidentified or underutilized oil plants.

Dang-I, A.

- i. Reduction of beany flavor in soy milk extracts.
- ii. Filtration of microbes and fluoride using ceramic filters.

Oduro-Mensah, D

- i. Microbial applications in bioconversion / biotechnology
- 11. Cocoa and cola waste remediation and conversion of wood wastes to biofuels.

FACULTY OF MATHEMATICAL SCIENCES

Introduction

The Faculty of Mathematical Sciences was established in September, 2009 with the mandate to provide training in Mathematical Sciences needed for national development. Since its inception, the Faculty has produced a number of Undergraduate and graduate graduates in various fields of study. The Faculty is also engaged in collaborations with a number of national and international institutions.

Programmes in the Faculty

- i) BSc. Computer Science
- ii) BSc. Information Technology
- iii) BSc. Computing with Accounting
- iv) Post Graduate Diploma in Computer Science
- v) Diploma in Computer Science
- vi) Bachelor of Science (Mathematics)
- vii) Bachelor of Science (Financial Mathematics)
- viii) Bachelor of Science (Mathematics-with-Economics)
- ix) PGD. Mathematics
- x) MSc/MPhil. Mathematics/Computational Mathematics

xi) PhD. Mathematics/Computational Mathematics

xii) B. Sc. Statistics

xiii) B. Sc. Actuarial Science

xiv) Diploma in Statistics

xv) PGD in Statistics/ Data

xvi) MSc. in Statistics/Applied Statistics/Biometry xvii) Management

xviii) PhD. in Statistics/Applied Statistics/Biometry
